

Rhythm InTune

Support made personal

A support program designed for caregivers and people living with rare genetic diseases of obesity

Rhythm InTune is your source for personalized support

Rhythm InTune provides resources, education, and information tailored to fit the unique needs of individuals living with rare genetic diseases of obesity, including Bardet-Biedl syndrome (BBS), POMC deficiency, PCSK1 deficiency, or LEPR deficiency.

Enrolling in Rhythm InTune is voluntary, and all of your personal information is kept confidential.

Dedicated support

The Rhythm InTune program is your single point of contact at Rhythm InTune

The Rhythm InTune program can help you:

Access educational resources

Get started on a
Rhythm treatment

Understand insurance coverage

The Rhythm InTune program is ready to help you or the individual you care for along your journey.

Support when you need it

Rhythm InTune offers learnings and resources to guide you at every step by helping you:

- Access educational resources, such as virtual education programs about BBS, POMC, PCSK1, or LEPR deficiency, and information on what to expect when starting treatment
- Access treatment by providing support to navigate health insurance coverage and processes, and exploring financial assistance for eligible patients
- Get started on treatment by coordinating IMCIVREE deliveries and injection support while providing educational resources for building healthy habits

The Rhythm InTune program is support that's tailored to you.

Rhythm InTune connects you with educational programs that provide disease education and information about insurance coverage, as well as insight into starting a Rhythm treatment, and what to expect.

Talk to your healthcare professional if you have questions about treatment for you or the person you care for.

Rhythm InTune offers support for individuals starting on treatment

Rhythm InTune can help you get started on treatment by:

Confirming your insurance coverage

Sharing information on the insurance approval process

Exploring financial assistance to eligible patients

Rhythm InTune is committed to providing help to patients starting treatment.

Continuous support that's in sync with you

Rhythm InTune can help coordinate the delivery of your Rhythm treatment and supplies, coordinate injection support, and offer education or information on what to expect when starting treatment.
